

Can I have tickles?!?

Give me five!

Can you read me a story?

Can we play a game?

You can place these social cards in the activity schedule, expanding it to include some interaction. You may have to prompt your child in the beginning, especially if he is not a reader.

Have him leave the area where is sitting to do the schedule and come and find you to ask for what is on the card (this exercise may require two people). The tickles card and the high five card are quick and simple.

There are two ways to use the story card and the game card. Place one book or one game on the shelf you are using for the items in the schedule (you may need to tape a card to the book and game to cue your child) - this gives him one choice. Or you may place a choice of two or more books and games on the shelf for him to choose from.
